

Middlesex London Food Policy Council

Motion: London Food Coalition Refrigerated Food Truck Project

Approved as amended: April 26, 2017

The Middlesex-London Food Policy Council supports the London Food Coalition strategy for a shared community asset of a refrigerated vehicle provided by the CYN, HKCC and City of London, through a co-operative share approach to ensure that at peak perishable food donations provided by multiple sources in the community are picked up, and redistributed effectively to meet community needs through organizations providing food security services across Middlesex County, London and collaborating Indigenous Nations.

The Middlesex-London Food Policy Council sees this effort as a strategic way to ensure responsive diversion of potential food product, best practices in food distribution and collaborative synergy in support of sustainable food security initiatives across the region. To this end, it is the recommendation of the Middlesex London Food Policy Council that food purveyors, food producers and food security organization work together to make this initiative most successful.
